Clemson ICAR

We would like to thank Mr. Robert Geolas for his informative presentation on the Clemson's ICAR. Mr. Geolas spoke about the new 250 acre campus, now being constructed in the upstate; its graduate and research programs, as well as the Clemson's corporate partners and their fascinating plans for the future.

A Free Plug for "InnoVenture"

InnoVenture will be held April 6 and 7, 2005, at the Palmetto Expo Center in Greenville.

InnoVenture has two objectives:

1. to help companies in the southeast identify talent and innovations in universities and research organizations,
2. to help emerging-high impact companies find the capital and other resources they need to grow.

InnoVenture focuses on the "Southeastern Innovation Corridor," a region from Research Triangle Park to Birmingham, from Oak Ridge to Charleston. InnoVenture is seeking additional members to their Advisory Board of subject matter experts. The group is also looking for emerging, high-impact companies in the region seeking capital and other resources to grow. For more information, contact Executive Director Brenda Laakso at info@innovenuresc.com or at 864-239-3711. You can learn more about InnoVenture and join the e-mail update list at <http://www.InnoVentureSE.com>

Meeting Notice

Mr. David Baker, Advanced Toastmaster - Gold, will present on Making Technical Presentations. Mr. Baker has been a toastmaster for many years. He has served as the President of the Fluor Toastmasters, as well as several other leadership positions over the years.

As engineers we can anticipate being called on to present to audiences many times, both in our personal and professional lives. Technical presentations are one means by which we can provide a boost for our careers as well as share our knowledge, in this fast paced and ever changing world in which we live.
