Clemson Scholarship

The availability of the 2006 AIChE $1,000 scholarship was announced at the October meeting. Application forms are available from our website, www.wscaiche.org. The winner will be announced at the March joint student-professionals meeting. Applicants must be returning students with a projected graduation date no later than May of 2007.

October Meeting: Design Considerations for Biopharmaceutical Processing Equipment

We thank Bob Green for his presentation describing key features of equipment required for cell culture and microbial based production facilities. Bob called on his experience as a training course organizer and instructor for the ASME annual design symposium and for the Society of Bioprocessing Professionals (SBP).

His experiences gave the group of practicing engineers and Clemson students good insight regarding project scopes, typical process layouts and equipment design guidelines.

November Meeting Notice:

CSI: Greenville – Local Forensics in Action

Our November meeting will be a tour of the forensic facilities at the Greenville County Law Enforcement Center. The Forensic Division is responsible for the documentation, collection and analysis of forensic evidence for the law enforcement agencies in Greenville County.

Sean Collins, Acting Principal Criminalist and Lab Director, will give us a tour of the labs which demystify and identify blood splatter patterns, and analyze trace evidence from firearms, explosives, and gun forensics.

Due to facility constraints, we will be unable to serve a meal on premises. Therefore, the tour will begin at 6:30. Those wishing to independently dine in or around downtown Greenville after the tour are welcome to do so.

DATE: Tuesday, November 15, 2005

TIME: 6:30 p.m. Tour and Presentation

Thanks for Your Participation

The November meeting closes the 2005 portion of our meeting agenda. There will be no newsletter or meeting in December. Our meeting activities will start again in January.

The executive committee is about to increase its dialogue with the National Organization regarding how it could better support the Local Chapters. Any officer would be pleased to hear your suggestions on this matter.

The officers would like to be among the first to wish you joy in the coming Holiday Season and a Happy New Year.
